Dr. Oz: Vinegar Not a Miracle Medicine, But It Cures Cancer

Mar 27, 2017 => Apparently, you can make any claim with an Asterisk (*), as long as the asterisk clarifies that your claim isn't true. In one of Dr. Oz's latest press releases, the TV 'doc' touts apple cider vinegar (or any vinegar) as a miracle health benefit: it improves blood flow, prevents diabetes, encourages weight loss, and prevents cancer. But not too long ago on the Dr. Oz show, he caveats his claims by saying this: "As with any trend, it's easy to get lost in the hype and start believing that vinegar is a miracle medicine (it isn't). In fact, one of the most popular claims — that drinking a small amount of apple cider vinegar before a meal helps curb appetite and burn fat — has little scientific support, according to the Mayo Clinic."

OK, OK, OK. Let's not get carried away. Vinegar is not a miracle cure-all, it just prevents cancer, and a few other things. News from the American Council on Science and Health ☺ Oncologists Don't Like Baking Soda Cancer Treatment Because It's Too Effective and Too Cheap => May 3, 2017 => Baking soda is used for many things, but did you know it could be used to treat cancer? How astonishing is that!

Even the most aggressive cancers which have metastasized have been reversed with baking soda cancer treatments. So, why aren't more doctors using these treatments? They tell us chemotherapy saves lives, boosts long-term survival rates and does not damage healthy cells. All these statements by the cancer industry are false. Poison kills indiscriminately it always has and always will. While damaging healthy cells, chemotherapy also triggers them to secrete a protein that sustains tumor growth and resistance to further treatment. That's right chemotherapy will actually boost cancer growth.

Rod Peterson's cancer cured with Baking Soda => Jul 20, 2013 => The claim is made saying cancer is cured with Baking Soda (sodium bicarbonate)

Rod Peterson was diagnosed with end stage cancer and was advised to see a psychologist, since the doctor basically told him he was going to die. Instead, Rod turned to Dr. Simoncini's Baking Soda treatment. Dr. Simoncini shows sodium bicarbonate cures colon cancer

1- Sodium bicarbonate, a natural way to treat the cancer

The reason this cancer cure seems to be suppressed by the large corporations because a low cost cure for cancer would probably shut down the current "cancer treatment" industry that earns billions of dollars per year. It's all dollars and cents (not sense) in capitalist extremist America right now. The American media was sold to the highest billionaires, so the "cancer treatment" industry tells the US media to suppress these facts. They simply do not want a cancer cure or they will lose billions.

Dr. Simoncini says cancer is a fungus. If sodium bicarbonate cures cancer, then the people working in America's "cancer treatment" industry need to find another job. In socialist Sweden the gov. would find all these people good jobs with similar salaries. In capitalist America these people losing their jobs can wind up homeless with no health care. Hence the rabid resistance to anyone coming up with cures for these ailments.

It appears the capitalist American corporations are using COINTELPRO on activists whose work, if successful, could cost those large corporations billions of dollars in lost revenue. Capitalist medical corporations don't want cures because it deprives them of money
